

Michele Carmina

Michele is the Head of Group Data & Digital and he is leading the definition of data and digital strategies for the Group, as well as the development of platforms and capabilities to accelerate digital & data transformation processes. Before joining Generali in 2016, he led the digital omnichannel IT factory at UniCredit and worked 10 years for Accenture in the financial services industry. Along his career Michele has earned a deep knowledge of both the Financial market and complex international projects.